

Notice concerning the teaching materials provided

The teaching materials here provided, except for the slides, are necessary for the examination for all the students, no matter if they attend or not, as they contain examples and exercises that are useful for the exam preparation.

During the lectures, attending students are recommended to check this e-learning page frequently, because normally these materials will be first discussed in class.